

ABSTRACT

Systems and methods for automatically providing an adapter or a stub in a runtime environment are provided. An adapter generator is provided with input parameters that are in turn processed and input to a compiler. The compiler, in turn, is coupled to an adapter library used to store the generated adapters. The adapter library, in turn, provides adapters, on demand, to a runtime system when executing a bytecode, or a series of bytecodes.

2000-01-01